3. Types of Cambodia visa:

There are some popular types of Cambodia visas, you should know:

T class(the tourist visa): The tourist visa is best for those who stay a maximum of 30 days in Cambodia. The tourist visa for 30 days is available to tourists in advance or on arrival for a price of $30 if you get it directly at the airport

E class(Cambodia “ordinary” visa): If you want to stay in Cambodia for the long term, you will have to apply for a 30-day E-class visa (not an online e-visa) when you arrive. The E-class visa validity is also 30 days and costs $35.

Note that: The difference between the E-class visa and the T visa (tourist visa) is that the E-class one can be extended indefinitely.

There are 4 types off E-Visa:

EB visa extension:

It is a Cambodia work visa for who are working and freelancers, maybe parents, and children, as well as to do social activities. In January 2019, the Cambodian government have issued a rule requiring to provide a stamped letter verifying your employment with a Cambodian company. The EB visa can be extensioned. the eb visa extension can be renewable for 1, 2, 3 or up to 12 months.

Spouses and children of EB visa holders can send messages to recruit visa holders, stating that the company that supports the EB Spouse/ children's EB application is a non-working dependent and the including passport information of dependents. They should also bring evidence of their relationship with visa holders to extend the visa extension.

Self-employed and registered businesses may write a letter confirming their employment. The letter must be stamped with a business stamp that can be purchased at any stamp shop for less than $ 15.

EC- class visa: This is Cambodia job search visa .The Visa E-Class extension plus amendment to EC-Class has the right to search for jobs and jobs in Cambodia.

Visa extension may be issued for one month, 3 or 6 months. The next innovation is impossible.

ER-class visa: This type is Cambodia for retirees. The extension of the E-Class Visa plus editing to the ER-Class has the right to retire to live in Cambodia.

A certificate from the host country proving that the applicant has the necessary financial means to provide for his or her life is required. This may be for example: be granted a pension certificate. Proof of bank savings is also accepted as evidence in exceptional cases.

Visa extension of the ER-Class is usually issued for those who are over 55 years old. However, in special cases, permission is also granted to younger applicants.

ES-class visa (student visa): The extension of the E-Class Visa plus amendment to the ES-Class (Student Visa) allows students to live and study in Cambodia.

A certificate from the registered school or university in which the applicant is registered there as a student must be provided with the application. Similarly, evidence of adequate financial means of living must be provided.

The change and extension of an E-Class Visa to ES-Class may take place in one month, 3, 6 or 12 months and after expiry, the extension may occur

Besides, there are also other types of visas:

K-class visas: K-class visas are for Cambodian nationals holding foreign visas. Cambodian visas for children: Since later 2016, children are not Cambodian who have been required to have an E-class visa to enter the Kingdom. The cost is same as for adults.

B-class visa: B-class visa, is known as an NGO visa, is a free visa for employees of international non-governmental organizations with a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.
